

NEBOSH National General Certificate in Occupational Health and Safety

The Nebosh National General Certificate is the most widely held health and safety qualification in the UK. Many people take the qualification as a first step in a career in health and safety.

It provides a valuable overview, and is a sound basis for further professional study. It is for managers, supervisors and staff from all types of organisations who need a broad understanding of health and safety issues.

Benefits of Attending

Can be used as a fundamental part of the candidate's development programme.

Upon completion the candidate will have a sound understanding of the principles of risk management which will enable them to help build an effective safety culture within their employment.

For smaller organisations, operating in lower risk environments the Nebosh General Certificate is often chosen as the appropriate qualification for the manager.

The qualification is accepted by The International Institute of Risk and Safety Management (IIRSM) for associate membership.

Course Structure

The course covers the main legal requirements for health and safety in the UK, identification and control of workplace hazards, and the practical application of this knowledge.

It is divided into three units each of which is assessed separately:

NGC1: Management of Health and Safety

NGC2: Controlling Workplace Hazards

NGC3: Health and Safety Practical Application.

Examinations for both NGC1 and NGC2 are two hour written exams completed on the same day.

NGC3 is a practical assessment which consists of carrying out a safety inspection and preparing a brief management report.
